

Book Reports

The long awaited and most definitely overdue Book Reports is now underway! During the course of the next coming months we will pick up the newsworthy thread and continue sharing our n.e.w.s. research. 'Book reports' will be a 100-day textual marathon of relatively short, snappy but argued reviews of primarily books, although these could expand into the ubiquitous url or PDF or even You Tube video. These 'books' are all those by extension that we have been compelled to read in whole or in part for our research. We are joined by those who have either been sharing their ideas, feedback and critique, lurkers as well users. Let us know if you have something to contribute, via the contact link.
